

FOSTER® FAMILY

WE'RE SERIOUS ABOUT THE POSITIVE IMPACT WE CAN PROVIDE FOR PATIENTS, FAMILY AND CAREGIVERS.

WHAT

At Allseating, we're serious about the positive impact we can provide for patients, family and caregivers. That's why we created the Foster family, to foster care and comfort at the highest levels in healthcare. From lounges to waiting areas to patient rooms, the Foster family of products offers a wide range of versatile solutions. Providing choice, comfort, and customization, Foster's adaptable features align with the healthcare industry's toughest challenges, addressing cleanliness and durability head on. Aesthetically, the Foster family's modern design integrates function and style with seamless finishes, giving healthcare spaces a feeling of being at home, when going home isn't always an option.

WHY

- + Patients, families, and caregivers have high expectations for not only their care, but also their surrounding environment. Making the challenge around keeping furniture fresh even more pertinent.
- + The Healthcare industry is an ever-changing landscape; challenges of today, may not be the same tomorrow. Clients are looking for products that meets the needs of all people who share the healthcare space.
- + Consumers now have information available to them to make better informed decisions (HCAHPS Scores).
- + Studies show that a family's presence in a patient's room plays a critical role in recovery and has a positive effect on healthcare outcomes, which is why it's so important to give families and loved ones' choice and control over their surroundings.

HOW

- + Sturdy and durable steel frame makes field installation and parts replacement easy.
- + 500lbs – 750lbs weight limit range for greater mobility and versatility.
- + Available vibrant color, textile, and arm cap options bring warmth to any space.
- + 100% replaceable parts to extend product life.

FOSTER® PATIENT RECLINER

COMFORT. CONTROL. CONNECTION.

WHAT

The Patient Recliner reflects modern and empathic design that will stand up to the demands of the healthcare environment, while also providing the highest level of comfort. Created in collaboration with Toronto based designer Aaron Duke, and with input from medical practitioners and healthcare designers, Allseating's Patient Recliner has been influenced by three values: comfort, control, and connection. From the sinuous springs, built in passive lumbar support and soft contact points to controls on both sides and dual pivoting arms, the recliner positions the patient, caregiver and family comfortably. Built to promote wellness, it's no wonder this patient recliner is HHI Compliant.

The Patient Recliner does more than just foster partnerships in the healthcare community, it fosters recovery.

WHY

- + The Foster Patient Recliner is appropriate for both in and outpatient care areas. Inpatient is typically defined as care given in the hospital lasting more than 23 hours. Outpatient is care given outside the hospital such as outpatient surgery, dialysis and infusion. Outpatient care is on the rise as it is less expensive to treat patients in an outpatient setting and the risk of secondary infections are lessened. Therefore, patients being treated in an inpatient setting are typically acute requiring more specialized care.
- + Caregivers, patients, and their families should be given choice and control of their environments to keep them safe and comfortable regardless of where the care is being given.
- + Real estate comes at a premium and therefore rooms are getting smaller. Smaller rooms need to maximize the space they have. That means, at times using patient care areas to accommodate families as well as the patient. Studies and theories like Ulrich's theory of supportive design support the idea that family involvement in care fosters healing.

- + To ensure safety, healthcare furniture such as patient recliners need to be both easily mobile and completely stationary when necessary. Also, the recliner needs to be easily cleaned to prevent infection.

HOW

FEATURES THAT SPEAK TO THE COMFORT OF CAREGIVERS, PATIENTS AND FAMILY MEMBERS:

- + The recliner offers a built-in passive lumbar support, along with molded foam, dual density seat suspension with sinuous springs, and a natural curve to the arms.
- + The recliner has an infinite back recline with gas assist and ergonomic activation levers on arms allowing the user to find ideal comfort.
- + The recliner can be configured with the optional adjustable headrest and pull out footrest to accommodate many sizes and shapes.

FEATURES THAT ALLOW CAREGIVERS, PATIENTS AND FAMILY TO HAVE CHOICE AND CONTROL:

- + Dual pivoting arms lift to provide side access on both sides of the chair.
- + Ability to configure the chair using various controls on each side (footrest lever, CBS, recline activation levers, minus 0 incline).
- + Central brake for locking the recliner in place and steering on both sides (optional).
- + The polyurethane arm cap is extended past the arm to assist with egress and ingress.
- + Optional non-handed footrest control.

FEATURES THAT PROMOTE CONNECTION BETWEEN PATIENTS AND THEIR FAMILY AND CAREGIVERS:

- + Footrest and back work independently, allowing the recliner to lay flat, offering a comfortable sleeping solution to family members.
- + Aesthetic design to be inviting and not intimidating.
- + Limitless upholstery options to create a positive addition to a healthcare environment that traditionally has been institutional.

*360° Wipeout on all sides with removable covers and seat cushions for infection prevention

*Ships blanket wrapped or knocked down
